WHO In his song "Your Call," emo singer-songwriter John Vesely complains, "I'm tired of being all alone," but the solo route has been good to him so far. Vesely played in a number of local bands before he became a junior Chris Carrabba, equipped with an acoustic guitar, silken tenor pipes, a shitload of tattoos and a whole lotta sadness. Even more impressive, the songs on his MySpace page have logged some 11 million plays.
