

the ONION

SUNDAY JUNE 10

MUSIC

Jesse Malin

Double Door, 8pm, $12, 21+

Jesse Malin is a black-haired songwriter who looks and sounds the part of the Lower East Side troubadour. He made his name as frontman of the gritty, glammy D Generation, then recast himself as a spare American-singer (he's a frequent companion to Ryan Adams). Malin's star hasn't risen much since, but he's no longer the solid and earthy. Opening: Holly Rains, Acute.

Photo: Bruce Coker