On Adeline Records, the label co-founded by Green Day's Billie Joe Armstrong, come Broadway Calls, a melodic punk rock outfit from Oregon. The album features 14 tracks – 13 originals and one Smiths cover ('A Rush And A Push And The Land Is Ours') and shows the band, fronted by Ty Vaughn, to have more of a punk edge than many of today's pop-punk bands yet with songs that are still instantly infectious. Lyrics relate to friendships and relationships – even those that seem wrong as in the case of 'Bad Intentions' where Vaughn sings 'you try to convince me it's right, but in the back of my mind I know we're destroying lives', as well as hopes and dreams and 'Suffer The Kids', a social commentary that mentions the war on terrorism, low pay for women and more. Something for everyone. The band keep the tempo high and the rock juice flowing. 'Broadway Calls' is an album made for the live show and you can picture both the band and audience having a blast. Highly recommended if you like your music with attitude.
