ROYAL BLOOD ANNOUNCE 2018 U.S. HEADLINING DATES

BAND TO RETURN TO CONAN FOR A PERFORMANCE OF "I ONLY LIE WHEN I LOVE YOU" ON THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7TH

LOS ANGELES, CA - DECEMBER 4 - Award-winning British rock band Royal Blood have announced a round of U.S. headlining dates to take place this coming spring. The run kicks off on May 28th at Brooklyn Steel in New York and will wind down on June 15th at The National in Richmond, VA. Tickets will be available for purchase beginning at 12:00 PM EST this Friday, December 8th.

Royal Blood is touring in support of their most recent release How Did We Get So Dark?, which was released on June 16th on Warner Bros. Records and debuted at No. 1 in the U.K. The album has accumulated over 30 million streams to date across Apple Music and Spotify, sold over 250,000 copies globally, and produced a No. 1 single on the Rock Airplay chart with "Lights Out".

ROYAL BLOOD

This Thursday, December 7th Royal Blood will return to Conan for a performance of their current single "I Only Lie When I Love You". Fans can tune in at 11:00 / 10:00 CST on TBS (check local listings).

Praise for How Did We Get So Dark? includes USA Today: "a monstrously good album," Rolling Stone: "a taut, smoldering album from a pair that has distilled rock to its essence," NME: "the sound of modern masters honing their craft," Entertainment Weekly: "darkly thrilling," Forbes: "Royal Blood ready to make leap to rock stardom on second album," and much more.

Royal Blood spent the fall supporting Queens of the Stone Age at arenas across North America. They will round out the year with a performance in Los Angeles at KROQ's annual Almost Acoustic Christmas.
